ANNUAL USC SCRIPTER AWARDS

The USC Libraries Scripter Award honors the year's best film and television adaptations as well as the works on which they are based and has been held annually since 1988.

Did you know that since 2010 the USC Scripter Award pick for the best adapted screenplay has correctly predicted the winner of the Oscars Best Adapted Screenplay category?

This February, noted film critics, producers, screenwriters, and directors will converge at USC's Edward L. Doheny Library for the black-tie ceremony to announce the winners.

Check out the list of nominees in the Film and Television categories HERE.

Read about last year's event which honored Call Me By Your Name in the film category and The Handmaid's Tale in television HERE.
